Camping Also Canceled Due To Corona Virus!

Yes not even our beloved camping could not escape the Corona Virus, for years the community was accustomed of enjoying friends & families on the beach, but like everything else this too could not escape this deadly virus.

To stop this virus, we have to do the exact opposite of what camping is about, so no group gatherings, only social distancing. We might miss this camping season, but we need to do this so you can enjoy much more campings in the future.

Aruba Refinery Gone To The Dogs!

Listening to politicians they make it sound like "all we need to do is to find an operator for our refinery, and problem solved"

However that's far from the truth, By these pictures any potential operator would run for the hills when they see the state of our refinery

If this Corona Virus has taught us anything, is that we need to look into more ways on income that's not just focus on the tourism industry.

Like the older heads always does say "Everything happens for a reason"

Police Doing Damage Control!

We have seen the headache the community was giving the police due to the extra force that being used, but like always when something new is implemented people have to get accustomed of it, and that takes time.

But police had to show the community that they are their friends, so they entered different neighborhoods playing music & had local talents to break the tension between the police & the community.

Red Cross Aruba In Action

Red Cross Aruba wanted to share with you another special and important delivery. When we received the request by FHMD Fundacion pa Hende Muhe den Dificultad to help them entertain the kids and mothers in the shelter during "Shelter in Place", our team took this very seriously. A package was made and delivered with toys and games so the kids can recreate during the days to come.

Poem By David Quant "Time"

Uncertain by nature,

An adventure by default,

The lack of it is stressful, but in abundance it brings what?

Less focus on what we want, more on what we got,

Opportunity to enjoy our loved ones and the activities we forgot,

The mental freedom we receive when we are no longer dancing on the pace of our clocks,

The bliss of rest and relief, because the 'lunch break' is taking longer than we thought,

And now what?

Now must reflect. The abundance of time is scary,

All the affinity that kept us busy before, were they really necessary?

The extra dollar or title before your name, is it bringing you peace ?

Is it bringing you security or are you as vulnerable as the common off the streets?

Time oh Time, you've deprived us
but now you're in abundance,

And judging on how we've administered it, we really did not deserve it,

Thank you for taking back ownership, and making us realize that its not "my time" nor "their time",But rather; God's time. And were yet vulnerable and dependable of His grace.

-David Quant
